Rathskellar Board Discusses Problems

The Rathskellar Board met on Tuesday, April 12, to discuss their Reorganization plans, financial difficulties, and the future of the Rathskellar. Treasurer Bill McCullough reported the Rathskellar, Inc. is presently operating at a loss of approximately $2,000.00, and there are still bills to be paid. He pointed out that during the months of May and June, when little or no income will be received, there will still be expenses. Happy Hour, he added, has been a tremendous success in terms of people coming, but is only running the Rathskellar into greater debt, financially.

The Rathskellar Board is attempting to change its income tax status from corporate to non-profit. In order to do this, the Board of Trustees must change the By-laws to indicate the Rat is a non-profit organization. This action would relieve the Rat from legal difficulties for not filing a corporate tax return, and save money in the future.

The reorganization Plan, prepared by Treasurer Bill McCullough, contained some changes in management policy which have proven useless or difficult to follow in the past. The major areas of change concerned the accounting of stock used, daily/weekly summary reports, erratic deposits of income, and the installation of a time clock for employee use.

The remainder of the meeting was devoted to discussion of the Rat's current financial crisis and possible solutions. At present, Happy Hour results in a loss to the Rat, and unless they are able to make a substantial profit before the semester's end, according to Bill McCullough, the Rat may be unable to reopen in September. Suggestions for eliminating some of the loss were having less bartenders, increasing costs of come drinks, and offering Heineken on tap in addition to bottles. The feasibility of these possible solutions was discussed; However, Bill McCullough pointed out that the Rat must have a profit, not just a cutting down the loss, just in order to break even for the year.

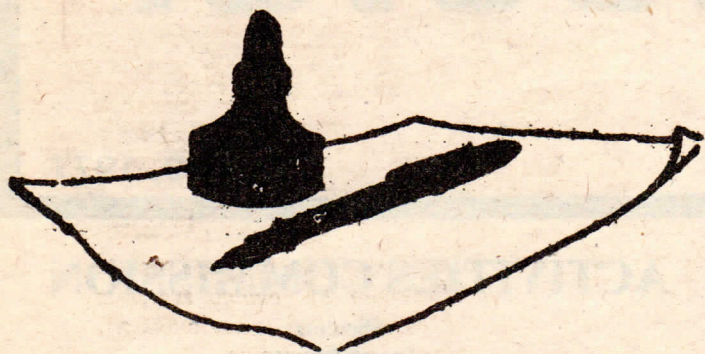

After discussion, the Board finally decided on a number of ways to help secure needed revenue. Happy Hour prices will change: A bottle of Heineken will cost 75 cents, and Heineken will be available on tap, 16 oz. for 65 cents. Michelob will be served at 55 cents. Overall changes, which apply to weekend, weeknight, and Happy Hour times, will include reduction in the number of bartenders serving. Of the total Rathskellar expenses, salaries comprise 53%, and this cutback in bartenders should help alleviate some of the overhead costs putting the Rat in debt.

On weekends the second floor operation will involve beer only, and any mixed drinks must be bought downstairs. There will be no tickets sold, but beer and drinks will be sold on a cash basis at both bars. Also,

To Mike

In assuming the position of Editor-in Chief, I have found this a time to look toward the future and reflect on the past-year.

The Connector has progressed from a skeleton staff to a core of people willing to put a great deal of time and effort into putting out a newspaper. The credit for this goes to one person — Mike Mohan. I know there were many 7 a.m. layouts and mid-week hassles when Mike wondered if it was all worth it. But even when things couldn't look any worse, he refused to give up. It was this determination that kept the staff together and which the staff respected.

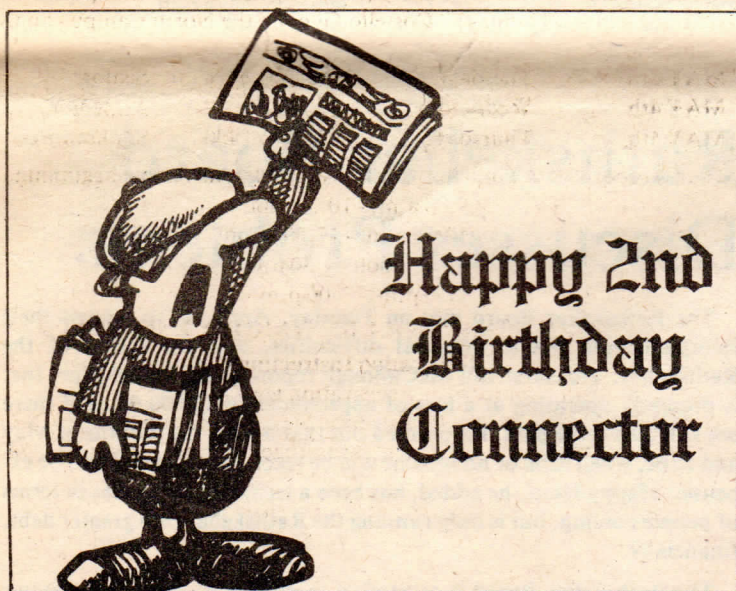

I hope the year to come goes as well as the year just past. The Connector will continue to strive towards promoting campus spirit and unity and providing the best possible newspaper we can to service the ULowell Community.

To Mike — all we can say is Goodbye, Good Luck and Thanks.

COMMENCEMENT

All the details relative to the Commencement Ceremony to be held Sunday, May 22, at Cawley Stadium at 1:00 P.M. will be available within a week. Notices will be placed in each senior's mailbox.

Margaret Mead Speaks At Cumnock Hall

Last Thursday, Margaret Mead spoke at Cumnock Hall to a full house. All seats were filled, with students standing and sitting in the aisles. All had come to hear what Margaret Mead had to say.

Dr. Mead was welcomed by enthusiastic cheers and applause, that had to be stopped by the lecturer herself. Her topic was on the changing roles of men and women in Society. Margaret Mead left the students enlightened with her thoughts.

Dr. Mead feels that the roles of men and women have been decided historically and physiologically. In the historical sense, women have never been given a fair chance to excel in a man's profession. Also in their respective roles, women have received less recognition than if a man did it. For instance, if a woman cooks, it's called cooking. But if a man cooks, it's an art.

Historically, men have never been free to enter a woman's profession. If a man ever wanted to be a nurse or a elementary school teacher, he was degraded.

In the physiological sense, women have always been expected to be more responsive to other people. Men are asked only to be sympathetic. Women are bred this way due to their ability to have children. Carrying a child for nine months makes a woman more responsive, she must take care of someone else, too. A man does not have this quality. He must learn from women to be more responsive.

Margaret Mead also went on to answer questions from the audience, covering various subjects; On the nuclear Family:

all ages within communities with housing for all incomes. Also husbands and wives should work close to their homes. That way they'll have more time together.

On Saccharin:

It should be banned and put on prescription for the diabetic.

On fishing rights:

It is an irrelevant issue for the time being, international law should be more concerned with oil spills.

On living together:

It is not immoral, it's just another form of marriage. Marriage is a vocation, and some people are not made for it.

Dr. Mead was an enjoyable speaker, but many listeners agreed that her writing talents are superior. But still, her views and opinions were well-worth hearing.

Student Trustee

Thanks For Your Vote

First of all, I would like to sincerely thank you for placing your trust in me and electing me to the position of Student Trustee. In addition I would like to personally thank Patty McLaughlin, Frank Alix, John Meeks, John Murphy, Caroline Downing, the residents of the 4th floor Smith Hall & Dormitory, and too many other people to name, for the support and confidence they gave me throughout this election.

Second, I would like to remind all the students of this University that the Student Trustee is elected to serve the student body. I intend to do my utmost to reward the faith you have placed in me. If at any time any student feels that I may be of service to him or her I expect that person to approach me with his or her problem. My Box number is 1170 and I WANT to hear your opinion on the problems and issues that affect you and this university.

Sincerely,

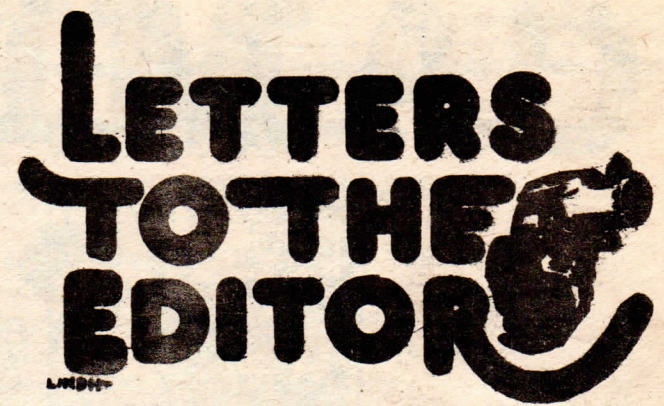

Thomas McGrail
Student Trustee

Senate Pres to Student Body

I would like to take this time to thank all those who supported and voted for me.

As student body President, I have a lot of authority which shall be put to a lot of good use. However, I need the support of every member of the student body to use this authority correctly. If there is anything concerning the University or anything else that you think I can help you with, please do not hesitate to contact me. My telephone number until the end of the semester is 459-4087, and my box # is 1473.

Mistaken for Apathy

Dear University community,

Last week I showed my concern in a letter about the apparent apathy and lack of sanitation procedures at my dormitory. Since that time I have had several meetings with the assistant Dean of Housing and many other people. Through these meetings I gained immense insight into the many facets of dormitory housing and maintenance which go on here at ULowell.

Having met before with a few of these people, I now realize that apathy was virtually nonexistent in this situation. What was needed was more concern and patience on my behalf. If anyone was apathetic, it was me. Remember, apathy is the lack of emotion, not necessarily interest.

I am grateful to everyone involved who talked with me, but I am especially indebted to the janitor of Smith Hall. His concern and deep emotion toward us students has convinced me that he is worthy of praise. His job is a demanding one. (I have to admit, I would not want to be the only janitor who has to maintain an entire dorm).

Hopefully, in the future, we will be better able to talk and discuss problems which arise, and I urge all fellow students to talk more often with your deans, counselors, and maintenance personnel about your problems. They can help and are concerned.

Sincerely yours,
John W. Harris, Jr.

"Techie" Women on Women's Center: Great But Inaccessible

I was delighted to see an extensive article about the Women's Center in last week's Connector ("A Closer Look at the Women's Center", Roberta E. Lee, The Connector, April 11). It was refreshing to read an informative, intelligent article, geared to the adult reader, which described the many projects initiated by this organization.

I am especially interested in the Women's Center as it relates to us on the north campus. Unfortunately, its members seem to take a rather naive view of us. In explaining the lack of north campus women at the center, it was pointed out that we were involved in sororities, and hence, felt less of a need for a center.

While some women here are lucky enough to find time for sororities and other social activities, the truth of the matter is that most techies, myself included, just don't have the time for anything but their studies. No one ever said a technical education came easily, and our problems are compounded by decaying conditions as to health and safety, as well as an unresponsive administration. I had a great desire to join the Women's Center this year, but there was just no time. I'm sure many north campus women share these feelings.

The rough conditions at north campus also relate to the Women's Center in another sense. It is obvious that the center is concerned with the quality of life. We who would like to bring about much needed changes here need all the help we can get. The Women's Center, at the south campus SUB, is somewhat inaccessible to us (as are the counseling services.) How about taking a look at life on the other side of the river? We could certainly use your talent and energy.

I noticed with some interest that the Women's Center is working on a collection of essays by ULowell women. It would be a glaring omission if a contribution by a north campus woman was not included. Those of us in male dominated professions are still a minority, and I feel that our views would be of great interest to the feminist community.

Overall, the meetings throughout the year were run well and at this time I would like to commend all the members of the board, especially Paul Morse, Joe Blonski, Bill McCullough, Bob Zappulla, Louis Salamone, and Sal Simonelli.

Lowell PIRG Students Lobby for the Bottle Bill

On Tuesday, March 29th, a delegations of Mass PIRG students from the University of Lowell journeyed to the State House in Boston to show their support at a public hearing for Senate 73, the Bottle Bill. The hearing, though lively at times, was marked by the constant negative criticism of many of the members of the Joint Committee on Commerce and Labor, despite the strong public show of support. Bottle Bill supporters had anticipated the Kangaroo Court reception, and consequently, set about lobbying local representatives. Students Charlie Gargiulo, Andy Chandonnet and Lowell Mercier approached Representative Robert Kennedy of Lowell and emphasized the energy and natural resource savings, the solid waste and litter reduction, and the cost savings to consumers. Kennedy was impressed and offered his support for the legislation. Edward LaLacheur and Phillip Shea, also local Representatives, would not commit themselves, but were receptive to the arguments of the students. Both need to be pressured further.

Pursuing the strategy of active citizen pressure, Lowell PIRG has arranged a meeting on Monday, April 25th at 7:30. The site has not yet been determined. The Lowell Representatives have been invited to discuss their feelings about the bill and listen to the concerns of interested Lowell residents. Senator B. Joseph Tully has also been invited. Senator Tully's vote on April 6th to commit the bill to

Restaurant Sanitation MASS PIRG to Inspect Inspectors

Wake up this morning feeling lousy — headache, nausea, indigestion? Could be the flu or could be botulism, salmonella or ptomaine-food poisoning from lunch in the corner deli.

Article 10 of the state Sanitary Code sets the hygiene standards for restaurants and puts the responsibility for policing restaurant compliance with the code on local health department. However, the law does not mandate a uniform statewide inspection system; therefore, each city or town had its own method for inspecting restaurant sanitation. Some health departments rotate inspectors, others do not; some departments use a standard inspection checklist and scoring system, others use handwritten narrative reports; some departments provide for making sanitation violations public, others do not.

The inspection problem is two problems: making sure thorough inspections take place and making sure the evidence discovered is made public and is acted upon. The first step in evaluating a local restaurant inspection system is to collect data on the present inspection program to determine whether it is carrying out its basic function and the place to begin is an interview with the head of the inspection division. Mass PIRG has a project designed both to collect this data and to teach basic interviewing skills. Want to get involved? Contact: Jack Fisher, Mass PIRG, Rm 359, Student Union Building, South Campus.

Network, Hollywood's on the world of TV is a piece of rhythmic genius. The pace is breathtaking and almost never quits. Peter Finch, the madman newscaster who gains national popularity shows the energy of a twenty year old. His performance earned best actor beyond any doubt. Faye Dunaway who plays a ruthless businesswoman was not to be overshadowed. Her constant rambling about the station's corporate affairs and her own dealings, go on from when she gets up in the morning to when she falls asleep. This keeps the film racing during Finch's absence. The pace lets up only momentarily for the illicit love affair between aging "washed-up-in-the business" William Holden, and Faye "electra complex" Dunaway. No time is wasted in bringing the action back to its lightning speed, right to the abrupt and surprising end.

You stay up late tonight, brother - this I know because these "boat people" are still on the high sea.
They never dare to go to sleep
I hear the cry of the winds and feel around me total darkness.

Yesterday, they threw the dead corpses of their babies
into the ocean water.
Their tears once again fill up
The ocean of sorrows.
In what direction their boats are drifting away at this moment?

You stay up very late tonite, brother because these "boat people" on the high sea are not sure at all that mankind does exist
because their loneliness is just immense.
The darkness has become one with the ocean and the ocean, an immense desert.

You stay up all nite tonite, brother and the whole universe is clinging to you being awake.

This poem was written by Ven Thich -NHAT-HANH. Reverend NHAT-HANH is a Vietnamese Buddhist priest, who has been a refugee in France for the past decade and the Director of Asian Conference on Religion and Peace (ACRP) and the International Board meeting of the World Conference on Religion and Peace (WCRP). As soon as he arrived on November 25, 1976, he was informed by some local Vietnamese in Singapore of "the boat people". He was taken to visit 20 refugees who had been living on a freighter in the Singapore harbor for almost two weeks, but were not allowed to go ashore even temporarily to confer with consular officials. Then Ven-THICH NHAT HANH wrote this poem. "The boat people" are Indochinese Refugees who have left their country on small fishing boats and are now floating in the sea. They have to float because no harbor is open to welcome them.

ACRP and WRCP are raising funds to charter a large boat to rescue these "Boat People" and to secure shelter for them in temporary base. Meantime, they are providing medicine and food. The U.N. High Commissioner for Refugees has been consulted at every step.

Twenty people (American, Japanese, Indonesian, Chinese and Indochinese) have formed a committee, "The Boat People Project in Lowell".

We are going to have "Last Dinner" for the benefit of the Boat People. This fund-raising dinner party will be held on April 14, 12:30 P.M. at Alderstate Methodist Church, 242 Boston Road, Chelmsford, Mass. It includes three authentic Vietnamese courses and excellent entertainment (Vietnamese singing, fashion show, folk dancing and music performance by Univ. of Lowell students). A ticket costs $5.00 for one person. The tickets are available at COBURN HALL 400.

We have been working hard but are short of people. We would very much welcome your hands in any possible way. Your hands could be your ideas for the project, typing skills, driving a car, sending mail or picking up a penny in the street and donating to the program (A penny can buy a meal in some countries in Asia).

If you are willing to participate with us, please do get in touch with "The Boat People Project". Please ask Hiro at COBURN 400.

We will be glad to give you all the information of the program. Our hands may not reach all the "Boat People", but we would like to give all the hands we have.

AIDE TO RESIDENT HANDICAPPED STUDENT

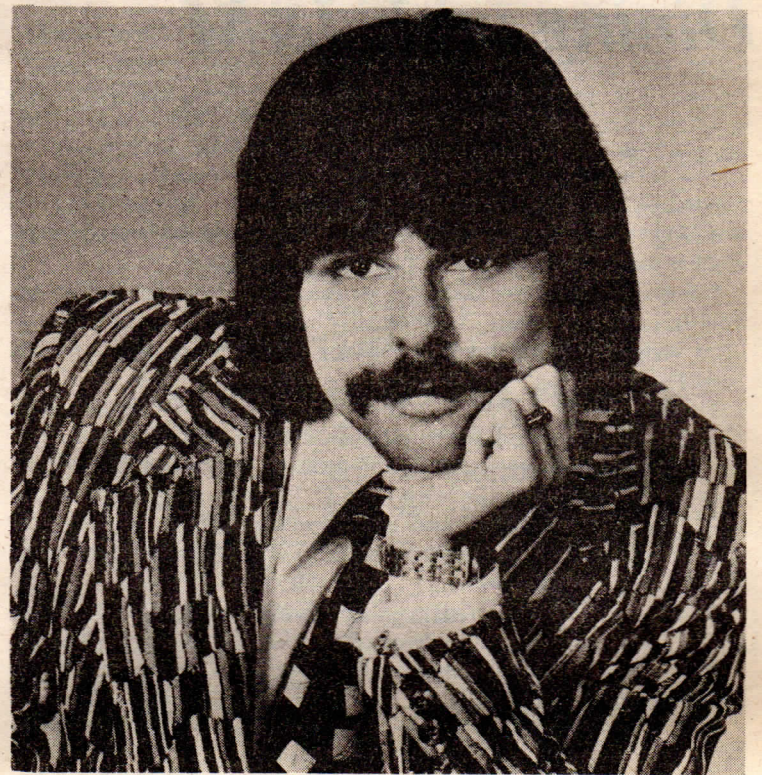

Handicapped male student residing in Eames Hall (North Campus) requires an aide for the next academic year to assist in daily routine. Interested students should contact Ellen C. Duggan, Resident Advisor in Eames Hall for further details regarding specific responsibilities, compensation, etc.

Steve Dacri: Fastest Hands in the World

Yes, Steve Dacri will open at Lowell. His shows will be on April 20th at 11:00 a.m. in the multipurpose room, north campus; 1:00 p.m. SUBd south campus; and in the Rat at 3:00 p.m. If you students remember, Steve was MC and resident magician at last year's spring Carnival. Steve Dacri was the "fastest hands in the world." Magic is not Dacri's only asset, as he blends in his own brand of humor to captivate audiences from the opening line to the last mind-boggling illusion. Steve is highly visual entertainment geared towards ultimate audience appeal — with loads of audience participation. Show includes E.S.P. demonstrations, hard-to-believe magic, sleight-of-hand tricks; pick-pocketing, and other nonsense!

Steve Dacri has appeared on more college campuses than any other Magical entertainer, and has appeared on more than 350 TV shows across the U.S. He is currently starring in his own weekly television show in New England, and is seen frequently on talk shows all over America.

The workshops and seminars are always well-attended. All phases of Magic are covered, including the actual demonstration of various principles used to "fool people." This also serves as a "teaser" for the main event, or evening show.

Student Affairs Satellite Office in Fox Hall

The student Affairs Satellite Office, Rom 409 in Fox Hall (Student Union Building - North) will be open and staffed every afternoon beginning at 2:00 p.m.

The daily schedule is as follows:

Monday	Dr. Mary McGauvran
Tuesday	Ms. Ellen Duggan
Wednesday	Dean James S. Donohoe
Thursday	Dean Louis J. Demetroulakos
Friday	Dean Leo F. King

Appointments will be made in the usual manner — in Dr. McGauvran's Office (Dugan Hall - South) or the Dean of Students Office (Cumnock Hall - North).

Sexual Self Awareness Workshop

A Sexual Self-Awareness Workshop will be held on Tuesday, April 26 from 6:30 to 10:30 p.m. at the University of Lowell Campus. This first participation will be limited to 12 people.

The objectives of this workshop will be to help each participant take a closer look at their own sexual values, attitudes, and behavior. This will be facilitated through the use of awareness exercises, role playing, and discussion. This is not a therapy group and the workshop will not focus on sexual problems.

We confidently anticipate that as a result of the workshop the participants will experience qualitative gains in:

1. feeling freer to talk about sexual issues
2. clarifying their own personal values
3. being sensitive to the importance of plain, direct talk about sex
4. becoming aware of some potentially destructive cultural and interpersonal expressions of sexuality
5. appreciating oneself, one's body, and one's sexuality.

Co-leaders of the workshop are Noel Cartwright, Director of Counseling, and Teresa Zagarella, a Senior Psychology/Nursing major.

Dining with J&M

"WE OFFER FINE FOODS, DRINKS AND A POSSIBLE COURTSHIP"

This is the slogan of one of Lowell's newer restaurants — Dillon's, located on East Merrimack Street. Reminiscent of days gone by, this restaurant is decorated with stain glass windows, old gas lamp fixtures, and bar pieces from the turn of the century.

It is divided into three good size sections. The restaurant section has booths, tables and chairs. An impressive bar is the focal point of the second section. Behind this is a sunken lounge overlooking Lowell's famous canal.

The food was very good, with large servings at very moderate prices. You are offered your choice of just sandwiches to full course dinners. The dinners include potato or rice pilaf, salad, rolls and butter. Prices range from $1.95 for a sandwich to $6.95 for a 16 oz. sirloin steak. In addition to this, for just 25 cents extra, you may have your choice of a mug of beer, or rose, burgundy, or chablis wine. The waiter was friendly and the service was good.

Another nice feature is that on Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday nights, after 7 p.m., there is a band playing for your listening pleasure. Tuesday night is Irish night and on the weekend, in the lounge, there is a piano player.

Warm, inviting, and different is the best way to describe Dillon's restaurant. It is truly a unique dining experience!

To My Cousin David

	To my cousin David I want to wish you. . .
Happiness.	Here is to the many hours of happiness you may ever want, and that you receive them.
Laughter.	They say that laughter is the best medicine, so always keep laughing.
Peace.	When the world begins to get you down, there is always a peaceful place to go.
Sunshine.	So you can roam where you like, and never worry about the clouds.
Rain.	It has been proven that a good cry always makes you feel better.
Adventure.	The kind of adventure that you can overcome and be the winner.
Friends.	Friends to talk to, walk with, or just to be with. Friends that care, even when you don't know it.
Love.	The most important wish of all, here is all the love in the world just for you. I hope these wishes find their way to your doorstep, because. . . I wish them to you, My cousin David.

A Talk With Dr. O'Leary

At the end of this semester, Dr. Daniel O'Leary will retire from his position as Chancellor of Lowell University and from 49 years in education. Recently, The Connector talked with him about his career.

O'Leary was born in Boston and attended Boston Public Schools. He was graduated from Boston College with a Degree in History, minoring in Greek and Latin Classics. He later received a Masters and Ph.D. from the same school, and did further graduate study at Harvard and overseas at University of Cambridge, England and University of Rome.

He began teaching in 1928 at Ashland High School, then went on to So. Boston High (where he met his wife), Roxbury High for Girls (where he had a student now known by the name of Patricia Goler, Liberal Arts Dean), and other schools in the Boston area. He was also an instructor for 14 summers at Hyannis State Teachers College and Boston State.

In 1950, the Massachusetts Board of Education appointed Dr. O'Leary to be President of Lowell State Teacher's College, succeeding James Dugan in 1951. Dr. O'Leary was also an instructor in the History Dept. in his first year at Lowell. From that first year, Dr. O'Leary brought a tiny, non-accredited state college from 1 building, 298 students, fourteen faculty, two clerks and four janitors to a campus consisting of 11 buildings, 9 of which are new; well over 6,000 students covering both sides of the river; and one-half of an accredited University.

His primary goal since 1950 has been to expand the music department. He told The Connector that at that time, none of the state colleges were doing much with music. The music program at Lowell in 1951 consisted of one piano and three faculty members. Today, the efforts of Dr. O'Leary have culminated in a new music building, with more than 50 part- and full-time instructors.

In 1967, Dr. O'Leary started a nursing program. In addition, in the '60's, he introduced Liberal Arts programs in the Social and Behavioral Sciences, and the Pure and Applied Sciences.

Dr. O'Leary was instrumental in the merger between Lowell State and Lowell Technological Institute in 1975. He proposed the merger in 1953 after a fire closed Coburn Hall for a semester. Classes were moved to the North side of the river, and it was suggested to Pres. Lydon of Lowell Tech that he consider joining forces with Lowell State Teachers College. Over opposition from Lydon and the Board of Trustees at Lowell Tech, Gov. Francis Sargent, in 1970, signed a bill authorizing the merger. The Lowell Tech Board of Trustees finally agreed and in the spring of 1975, Lowell University was formed, Dr. O'Leary taking the position of Chancellor.

Asked how he felt about free higher education, Dr. O'Leary said that he strongly supports the idea. "I believe there should be free education from Grade one right through to a Ph.D.," Dr. O'Leary said. "I can see no sense at all in having free public education up to grade 12 only. Why can't a student who has great ability and no money — why can he get a free education through high school but be stopped from the higher education which gives him the ability and potential to become a leader in our society and to become a top professional?"

The most pleasant memory he has in nearly fifty years of teaching and administration is the students — "even the rebels," he said. In concluding the interview, Dr. O'Leary had some words of advice for students: that they should concentrate more on their studies, and that the faculty should live up to their obligation to students.

The Connector congratulates Dr. Daniel O'Leary on 50 years in education and on the endless work he did to make Lowell University the high-quality school it is today. Best wishes, Dr. O'Leary, for a pleasant retirement.

"Forty Carats"

On April 22 and 23 at 8:00, the curtain will rise on the Wilmington Spotlighters' production of "Forty Carats." This hilarious comedy adapted by Jay Allen promises an evening filled with laughter and entertainment. The show is under the direction of Tom Martel of North Reading and produced by Billerica's Trixie Lenzi.

The cast of "Forty Carats" stars Frances Richards from Reading as Ann Stanley, and Billerica's Luis Chambers as Peter Latham. Other members of the cast include Bob Jennings, Marlene Phillips, and Jerry Robbins, all from Wilmington; Tewksbury's Norm DeMarais and Elaine Treem; Sally Rogosa and Susan Harrington of Lynnfield; George Spering from Billerica, and Sandra Voltero of Burlington.

"Forty Carats" is a not-so-typical present day love comedy, with an unusual plot. After returning from a trip to Greece, Ann Stanley, a young woman of forty, finds she is being courted by Peter, a young man she met on her trip. When Peter reveals his true intentions and his true age, twenty-two, the fun begins. Add Sally Rogosa as the hilarious Granny Maud and Susan Harrington as Ann's sassy daughter Trina, and the comedy never ends. As if they weren't enough for Ann, she is still pursued by her ever-caring ex-husband and former Peyton Place actor, Billy Hoylan played by Norm DeMarais. With Bob Jennings as Ann's boyfriend Eddy Edwards, "Forty Carats" provides a fun evening of misunderstandings.

The show will be presented at the Barrow's Auditorium in Wilmington High School. Tickets may be purchased at the door, or

EASTER

As you read this, it was a week ago Sunday that Christians and Orthodox churches celebrated the resurrection of Jesus Christ. In churches throughout the land, cries of "He is risen! Hallelujah!" were heard. Many rejoiced over the miracle on that day.

But how many of those millions of rejoicing Catholics, Protestants and Orthodox still celebrated Easter the following Sunday? How many will celebrate it next Sunday? How many celebrate Easter all year round, not just once a year?

Easter is the commemoration of the risen Lord and Saviour. We remember a man who called himself "King of the Jews"; a man who rode into the city of his Father's temple on a donkey; a man who was betrayed by his friend, turned over to the enemy, whipped, beaten, mocked, and finally cruelly subjected to a torturous death by being nailed through his hands and feet to a wooden cross. Unfortunately, too many people leave Jesus on the cross. They forget that three days later, God raised Him from the tomb, thereby conquering death, thereby giving mankind the way to eternal fellowship with God.

To be born-again Christian, one who has accepted in his heart the death and resurrection of Jesus, the resurrection — Easter — is celebrated, or should be celebrated, every day. It is not merely reserved for Easter Sunday, but is commemorated every day of his new life by putting Jesus Christ first in his life. I think that only when Christ is in first place can Easter really be a cause for saying "He is risen! Hallelujah!" Accept the new abundant life that God gives us through Jesus Christ, and begin to celebrate Easter every day.

No Armenian Night

A redistribution of the Activities Commission funding regulations prevents the Armenian Club from sponsoring its annual Armenian Nite mixer. As a result, the I.A.N. has worked hard to prepare a program that will be interesting and entertaining to the students of the University. We have compiled a series of events that will take place as a part of the Cultural Week festivities. These events have been planned by the Armenian Club but funding for them has been made available by the American Studies Club. I am grateful for the generosity of the American Studies Club and particularly thankful for the dedicated cooperation by Patty Sullivan, president of the American Studies Club. If everything goes well, our portion of Cultural Week will be as described below.

MONDAY, APRIL 25: in the Auditorium of the O'Leary Library, 7:00 p.m. — Showing of The Armenian Case - This is a 42-minute color film made by Atlantic Productions of Hollywood, California. The film is narrated by Mike Connors (Mannix). The purpose of the film is to help the American public get acquainted with the Armenian people, their history, and some of their aspirations. It is informative, entertaining, and well worth seeing by sociology and history buffs. Also showing will be a film on the Armenian genocide. This is black and white and is only available in video-tape form. This is a documentary; it is precise, and to the point. Between the films, there will be refreshments and after the films I.A.N. members will be on hand to answer any questions.

TUESDAY, APRIL 26: O'Leary Library Auditorium (room 22) 7:00 p.m. — We will be featuring two slide show presentations with a sound track and a lecturer explaining the slides and answering questions. There are three presentations available to us, however, time and funds permit us to present only two. Here is a brief description of the three. A TOUR THROUGH HAYESTAN. This is about the present day Armenia which is behind the iron curtain. It takes a look at the people, cities, and village life there. Delightful, and charming in its own way. ANCIENT ARMENIAN MANUSCRIPTS. Ancient Armenian monks recorded the Bible obsessively. On the pages of their Bibles, they made miniature masterpieces of the Biblical stories. This presentation captures the beauty of the manuscripts with colors that have not begun to fade. THE ARMENIAN PATRICHATE IN JERUSALEM. This depicts the ornate architecture of the Armenian Church. Many of the religious artifacts are shown in the most holy of settings. This presentation is a must for art majors or persons interested in religious traditions.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 27: Student Union Building, 2nd floor — A real Backgammon tournament. We will be awarding trophies to the winners of the finals. This tournament will be embellished by some good Armenian food (homemade) and Armenian music. In Armenia, backgammon is known as 'Tavloo'. Tavloo is a traditional Armenian pastime. It is usually played by the men folk, but we are welcoming anyone who is interested in playing to sign up in the I.A.N. office by Monday, April 25. The I.A.N. Office is located in room 9-357, sub south. (If there is nobody there, slip a note under the door.) We're looking forward to an enthusiastic competition.

Elections were held to elect the new officers of A I Ch E and T A P P I for the coming year. The new A I Ch E officers are: President, Raj Ishrich; Vice President, Alan Forbes; Secretary, David Boldi; and Treasurer, Steven Lantagne.

The new T A P P I officers are: President, Scott Derderian; Vice President, Richard Piela; and Sec./Treasurer, Charles Amos.

The annual outing will be held on Thursday, April 28. Time and place will be posted on the dept. bulletin board. All members are urged to attend. Last Tuesday, some members went on a plant trip to Hampshire Chemical Co. The company is a large manufacturer of substituted amides. The tour consisted of a lecture on the chemical synthesis, visiting the manufacturing areas, and a lecture on the importance of the chemical engineers at the plant. The trip was a very rewarding experience for those who attended.

Sociology Club

The Sociology Club and the Armenian Club are co-sponsoring two films which deal with the tragic genocide of the Armenian people.

The Armenian Case — prepared to be shown on a television special about the Armenians, and has already been shown in different parts of the country on local stations.

Catch 44 — a documentary narrated by Berj Famgochian.

They will be shown in the media center on April 25, at 7:00 p.m. Everyone is welcome to come and see these two interesting films.

Horse Show

The University of Lowell Equestrian Club is sponsoring its first annual spring horse show this April 24, 1977 at 8:00 a.m. It will be held along the Pawtucket Boulevard, Lowell, Mass. (near the Speare House). The event is co-sponsored by the Lowell Regatta Festival Commission and they will be donating a silver challenge trophy to be awarded to the open working hunter champion. Silver awards, ribbons, or prize money will be presented in each class. There are 54 classes and the divisions are as follows:

- Equitation
- Pet Pony
- Working Hunter
- Jumper
- Miscellaneous
- Western Pony
- Stock Horse
- Western Pleasure
- Saddle Seat Pleasure

The University of Lowell Equestrian Club sincerely appreciates the support of the class sponsors and of the "Friends of the University Equestrian Club."

Anyone wishing to enter any class please contact the show secretary (Pamela Copely), P.O. Box 1592. Entries close April 20, 1977, however, post entries accepted at published price. Information may be obtained about the show by seeing any of the officers of the club located in the Equestrian Club Office, room 350, South Student Union Building.

Everyone is welcome to spectate and food will be provided. The show will be held rain or shine.

Now that the holidays are over, we ask ourselves, can the Red Sox really play winning baseball? The prospects do not look too good but this question remains to be answered.

Elections were held this week in the Brotherhood of Phi Psi. George Dristiliaris was elected President, Ricky Creegan was elected Vice-President, John Noyes - Treasurer, Jack Connolly - Secretary, while Mark Ramaukitus was elected House Manager. Congratulations boys and good luck in the future. And a special thanks should be given at this time to this year's executive committee on a job well done.

In sports this week, the Wannalancit warriors dropped their second in volleyball to Omicron Pi. The warriors made it close but fell short at the end to drop two out of three. Congratulations to O Pi on a good victory. Spring training has just started in softball and if the enthusiasm and excellent play which was displayed last week can be held throughout the season, we should prove to be a contender.

PHI PSI FLAK . . . It was a quiet week at PhiPsi even though many of the brothers are taking lessons on etiquette from John Fairbanks, while the rest of us are learning how not to play hockey from Dean Drimaldi. George Dristiliaris, Jimmy Limperis and John Gannon attempted to attend the Red Sox season opener but never left the bar stools on Yawkey Ave. They didn't miss too much anyway. One point which should amaze many if the fact that Ricky Creegan didn't do anything wrong this week.

Okay, so we're not the best volleyball team on campus. We do win games (not matches) and that counts, doesn't it? Of course! We're great, and you should know it! Hugs and salutations going out to the "m & m's", those mean marauders from Towers, and Kappa Upsilon, whose team looked like a bunch of hot tickets that no one should mind getting to know. You guys play decent volleyball.

There just may be another social function this week. Last week was our Wine & Cheese Party. My dear readers, you wouldn't believe all the happy sisters and guests I had on my hands by 10 o'clock! Deb and I were picking them up off the floor! Needless to say, we had a good time.

So, as I began to say in the last paragraph, watch for posters on another function around Friday. I think it'll begin around 5:00 p.m., and I'll guarantee you'll get to know some new people. That's always a strange experience.

A new committee has been formed in our midst — the Angel Dusting Committee. Certain sisters go around (heh-hem!) toilet-papering objects that are not doing anything at the moment. So keep moving, and tune in again next week when we try to answer the questions: "Will Nance ever find out who 'decorated' her door?", and what about Charlie? When will he stop fooling around with trolls? (for we all know elves are better and they like mustard, also).

The Easter bunny was good this year to the Brothers of Tau Kappa Epsilon.

We have added two new pledges to go with the current 5. They are: Krishna Paul, who works in the Registrars Office on North Campus and he is a freshman I.T. major. His interests include skydiving, scuba-diving and most other death-defying sports. Also, we have Boyd Estabrook who hails from Andover. He is a sophomore business major and his interests include just about all sports. Good luck to you men!

For all interested students, our house on 70 Methuen Street will be open for rent during the summer months. It would be ideal for those of you doing summer college work in your major. The price is just $10 a week, so if you are considering a place to live or know someone who is looking — refer him to TKE. Better hurry!! At this price, the rooms will be filled quickly.

Hello from the boys at 31 Waverly St. Final tallies from this year's house election are in, showing Gary Smith as our new archon; Arthur Harding as senior member; Jack Morrison, Junior member; Mark Szen, treasurer; Ken Dooley, recorder; Brian Coneeny, historian; Jerry McAndrews, marshal; and Peter McNoughton, senior IFSC member. Thanks goes out to last year's officers for a job well done.

Wallets are beginning to ache as formal time draws near, but judging from years past, it will be well worth it.

Due to Ned Oliver's brilliant performance last year, OPi this Wednesday night is allowed the distinction of hosting this year's drinking contest. Each fraternity and sorority is sending its two most qualified representatives as competition for this most coveted honor is always intense. The brew will be flowing for spectators also, so drop by as this promises to be our most enjoyable Wednesday night party to date.

All of us who attended the spaghetti night party last Wednesday night before the mixer would like to thank the "Italian Stallion" who came through once again with a delicious dinner. Grad Students

At a recent meeting of the University Self-Evaluation Committee, it was reported that a large number of grad students fell below the standards for receiving their degree. In one department, seven of these grads were holding teachers' assistanceships.

The standards for graduate students are these: If a graduate receives one BC or less, his record is reviewed. With two BC's or less, the grad is supposed to be put on probation. With anything below, he is ineligible for high degree. This does not include special graduate students who are not trying for a degree.

Obviously, these standards have not been enforced. A point was made in relation to the seven grads previously mentioned, that certain labs could not be held without graduate help. However, this is no reason to overlook school policy.

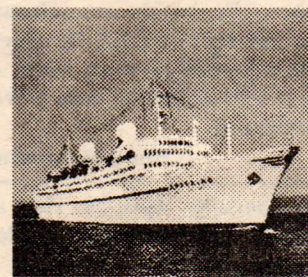

The question is not only why these policies have not been enforced; it is also what other important University policies are not being enforced. The threat of poor accreditation is the only reason this problem has been brought out into the open.

ULowell Baseball Wins Seventh Straight

Victorious in Twinbill

On Saturday, April 9, the Chiefs were victorious once again at Hadley Field. This time the victim was Plymouth State. Lefty Bill Moloney pitched a strong first game. He went the distance striking out 14, allowing five hits and picking off one Cougar base runner at first. Shortstop Paul Hamilton hit a screaming shot over the Plymouth center fielder for his second home run of the season. The final score was UL 2, Plymouth 1.

Tipper Durkin pitched the second game of the double header but was not overpowering. He struck out nine, walked three, allowed nine hits and five runs. The Chiefs' bats were hot; in the first inning Lowell jumped all over the Cougar pitcher for six runs. The other two Lowell runs came in the second and in the fifth innings. In the second, Paul Hamilton drove in Tom Jacobs with a single. In the fifth, John McHale walked with the bases full to force in Bill Moloney. Big Jim Wronski had three of Lowell's eight hits (with two doubles and a single). Final score: 8-5.

The Murder of Hartford U.

On Monday, April 11, the Chiefs "hosted" Hartford University at Hadley Field. Matt Fitzgerald went the distance for Lowell with his smoking fast ball. He allowed just six hits, struck out eight and walked five. The offense was unbeatable, racking up 14 hits. Lowell runs were scored in a variety of ways: front long ball hits by Rick Ries to singles by Bob Steward, Kevin Bartlett and Ted Williams to unearned runs that came in on a ball and a throwing error. The Hartford

Hawks tried to come back in the sixth when they managed to drive in three runs but at that point the Chiefs had the game under complete control. Bob Steward stole two bases. Both Rick Ries and Paul Hamilton had three hits. Final score: 10-3.

Chiefs over W.P.I.

On Tuesday, April 12, the Chiefs won their seventh straight game. Freshmen Joe Keohane pitched a strong game, holding the visitors to just three hits. He had eight strike outs and walked six. The Chiefs had a twelve-hit day. Kevin Bartlett and Paul Hamilton each had two hits and stroked in one run apiece. Billy Moloney belted a three-run homer in the fifth inning. Final score: 8-2. This gives the Chiefs a 7-1 record on the season.

ULowell Track Defeats BU 66-61

Despite wind and low temperatures, the ULowell track squad defeated Boston University on Saturday, April 9. Members of the team combined strong individual performances to beat the Terriers and took first in well over half the events.

In the field, Joe Brice and Bill Haskell came across with a strong one-two punch in both the shot put and the discus. Brice took first in both events with a distance of 45'5" with the shot and 149'3½" with the discus. Bill Haskell finished second in both.

Haskell took first in the Hammer throw, as well, with a distance of 181'7". In third was freshman Marc Linschied of Lowell.

Bob Pilcher won the high jump at the height of 6'0" and also took second in the long jump. Andy Robinson placed third in the event.

Freshman Leo Kashian triple jumped a distance of 42'3" to win the event for Lowell. And senior Joe Antkowiak vaulted 13'0" for a victory in the pole vault.

In the running events, UL proved to be tough competition once again. In the high hurdles, Ron Karcz finished first in a time of 15.8 seconds. (Karcz also took second in the high jump behind Lowell's Pilcher.) Harry Riley took first in the 440. His time was 51.8.

Lowell swept the 3-mile with winner Mike Hurton finishing in 15.05. He was followed by freshmen Larry MacDonald and Mark Blaisdell, and in fourth was Eddie Seaver.

Al Fournier won the mile for Lowell, crossing the line at 4:29.7.

Although the ULowell team was unable to connect for a win in the relays and some of the shorter distance events, overall, the performance of the team was very encouraging for the spring season. The team will be at the UMass relays Saturday, April 16 and Westfield State on April 23.

Smashing Tennis Season Begins

Tuesday, April 5, signals the beginning of a hopeful new season for the Men's Varsity Tennis Team, as the netmen host S.M.U. at 3:00 P.M. Other upcoming home matches:

Apr. 7, Thurs. Merrimack 3:00
Apr. 11, Mon. Hartford 3:00
Apr. 18, Mon. Bentley 3:00

These home matches will be played at the Lowell Regional Technical Vocational School, on Rte. 113, about 3 miles from the North Campus. The 8 courts there are in very good condition and afford a good view for spectators. Rides for interested supporters can be arranged with Coach Oliver at the N. Campus Gym. If sufficient interest is shown, a van or bus will be arranged.

Coach Oliver is really enthusiastic about his lineup, and with good reason. From 1st singles to 3rd doubles, our team is really tough, with a lot of exciting new talent complementing the experience of the veteran players. We've got an exciting season ahead of us.

Recently, the ULowell team gave a preview of the kind of tennis we can expect to see this season as they walked away with the Hartford Invitational Indoor Doubles Championship title. Points scored by "A" flight doubles team of Kevin Clarkowski and Steve Oliver, who succeeded to the finals, were added to those tallied by Mike McCabe and Eddie Parigian, who won the "B" competition.

We've got a top rate tennis team here at ULowell, there's no doubt about that. So come on out to the Voke School and get into some really super tennis.

Lacrosse Team Wins First

The ULowell Lacrosse team rolled over Merrimack this past week 20-10. It was the first victory of the season for the Chiefs after they dropped the first two games to Brandeis 6-5 and Mass. Maritime 13-5.

Midfielders Bob Harvey and Pete Wikowski led Lowell to victory with seven and five goals respectively. The game was close heading into the fourth quarter after Merrimack came from an 8-2 deficit to tie the score at nine. But Lowell exploded with eleven goals in the final stanza to capture the victory. Other goal scorers for Lowell were Mike Norton (3), Eric Johnson (2), Brian Keegan (2), John Baia (2), Frank Signa (1), and Mike Keegan (1). Ed Akel and Rob Green each had four goals for Merrimack in a losing effort.

In the first game of the season against Brandeis, the Chiefs ran into a hot goaltender Robert Blau. Blau was the difference as he continually stifled Lowell's attack with miraculous saves. Eric Johnson and Frank Signa each had two goals for Lowell in what was a defensive struggle. Besides good defense, Coach Carrow cited the low temperature and high winds as possible reasons for the low scoring.

Lowell met a tough Mass. Maritime team last Monday. The Chiefs were no match for Mass. Maritime as they were dominated throughout the game to a score of 13-5. Frank Signa and Bob Harvey each had two goals, and Pete Wikowski had one to round out Lowell's scoring.

Lowell's next game is this Wednesday at home versus Babson. Bring your support!

JOCK HUMOR

A new sport has invaded the University of Lowell. It is called Roller-Racket.

Being the newest rage in individual sports, Roller-Racket has gone over big with sado-masochists. The winner of the intramural Roller-Racket tournament will be buried tomorrow.

THE NEW LOWELL
OFFERING IS COMING..

ULowell Golf Team

The golf team's home opener against Colby last Monday was cancelled. With the open date the team went to Andover Country Club to make up the match that was rained out against Merrimack. Bowdoin College was also present so a tri-match was played.

The team came away with a split beating Merrimack easily 6-1 but was edged out by Bowdoin 4½-2½.

Medalist for the Chiefs was Mark Kazanjian who shot a 79. Playing No. 1, Mark won both his matches 3-2, 2-1.

Larry Howarth, playing No. 2 shot an 80 and won both his matches in fashion 4-3, 4-2.

Howarth and Kazanjian remain undefeated in the 4 matches they have played in so far this season.

Ed Znoj, playing No. 7 won his match against Merrimack clobbering his opponent 7-6 but coming away with a halve against Bowdoin.

Single winners for the team were Kevin Egan, Mike Ness, and Chris Prince. They all won their respective matches against Merrimack but lost to Bowdoin.

The team's record is now 2 wins - 2 losses.

The next match will be Thursday, April 14, against St. Anselm's and Providence College in a Tri-Meet at Pawtucket Country Club. On Friday, April 15, they will play a match against Boston College, Army, and the University of Rhode Island. These teams are in Division 1 and should prove to be a good test against our team. The match will be played down on the Cape at New Seabury Country Club.

The home opener will now be Tuesday, April 19, against Suffolk and Clark. Tee off time will be 1:00 at Vesper Country Club.

Karate Team Sweeps New England Titles

The ULowell Karate Team made New England karate history on Saturday, April 2, by being the second team in the past ten years to win both sparring and form competitions at the New England finals. The tournament was held here at the ULowell north campus gym. The following schools were represented by one or more teams: Boston U., Boston College, M.I.T., Dartmouth, UMass., UNiagara, Tufts U., S.M.U. and Harvard.

Paul Lake, senior captain, proved to be prime inspiration by winning all of his fights and katas (forms) and being chosen as one of the five best fighters of the day by Master Tabata. This puts Paul in good position for his black belt examination which will be held Tuesday, April 26 at 11:30 at Costello Gym. Also chosen to receive outstanding fighter recognition was Alfredo Ford.

Senior Coach Don Nowak ended four years of perfect competition by taking three kata matches by five-judge unanimous decisions. This makes black belt Nowak the first person in New England to go undefeated for four years in form competition.

The Women's Kata division championship was captured by ULowell's Gloria Miele. Donna Jenkins (Lowell) made an outstanding effort in competing on the Men's Novice Team. The following people are to be highly commended for the work and spirit they generated to produce a championship team: Wayne Harmon, Steve Palmer, Tat Yin Choo, and Dan Roy.

Table Tennis Tournament

The second round of the tournament now in progress must be played by Monday, April 18, or matches will result in a forfeit. The finals for this tournament will be played Tuesday, April 19th at 6:30 p.m. in the South Campus Student Union Building.

The last tournament of the year will take place on Tuesday, April 26, in the So. Campus Student Union Building at 6:30 p.m. This will be a handicapped tournament, and all faculty and students are invited to attend.

The results for the first three tournaments of this semester have placed eight winners: Pervez Qureshi, Rit Chiang, Ken McCance, Doug Azarian, Dr. Lee, Jim Curran, W.M. Li and Ben Andrusaitis.

On March 30, the University of Lowell Table Tennis Team incurred its first defeat by playing a very strong MIT Team. Dr. Lee garnered the only win to avoid a shutout. If you are interested in joining the Club or have any questions please contact Dr. Lee (251-4205) or Doug Azarian (667-9789).

Women's Track

Although the team is not as large as was expected, the Women's Track Club has been training for the spring season and will be participating in a full schedule of meets. All competitions will be away and are as follows:

Holy Cross	Thurs., April 14
UMass Relays	Sat., April 16
Westfield State	Sat., April 23
Amherst	Wed., April 27
Codfish Bowl	Sun., May 2

For those who qualify there will also be an opportunity to go to a National competition in Pennsylvania in May.

Extramural Basketball Team

The townies basketball team, the University of Lowell representative in the Schlitz intramural tournament, have advanced to the semi-final round of the 20 team tournament.

In their first game on Thursday, they defeated the University of New Hampshire 69-56, in a hotly contested game that went right down to the buzzer. On Monday night, they outplayed the much taller MIT team, by a score of 50-37. Guards Bob Delisle and Mike Lemire, led the team with 15 and 10 points respectively. If they win their semi-final game against Boston State College, they will play in Boston Garden on Saturday morning in conjunction with National Intramural Sports Recreation Convention.

Intramural Handball Doubles Tournament

In the semi-final matches Litman and Rubinstein defeated Costello and Martin. In the other game, Cavaleri and Deulin defeated Haskell and Burke. The finals will be played this week.

Bottle Bill

Senate Ways and Means was of crucial importance.

At present, due to some legislative hanky-panky, the Bottle Bill is threatened in the Senate. The attempts of anti-Bottle Bill Senators to scuttle the legislation before it can be amended and voted on by the entire assembly points up the necessity of persistent citizen involvement. One important way in which concerned Lowell University students can get involved is to attend the April 25th meeting and voice your concerns.

Hi Tom, Sorry that I wasn't home when you called. Just figured that I would wish you good luck for your finals at St. Anslem's.

The Spellcaster

P.S. Hope that no one is picking on you too much because I think that you deserve better than that. Like having me pick on you.

But, I'm sorry for any harm that I caused. Keep in mind that you were there, too. Do you really know what it means? I'm not so sure that you do.

Frustrated Non-Faucet: Somehow our wires got crossed and we're not on the same wavelength. You're thinking of SEX; I'm thinking of friendship — after which, well, we'll have to wait and see. You gave me a deeply intense look; I reciprocated, last December. That's the way it has been since last December. Just because I lowered my eyes is no reason for you to feel rejected. Did it occur to you that I just remembered suddenly who and where we are? Now I get your note re. mind & body. Have you been having internal dialogue? Speak to me so I'll know how you feel: there have been many times I was tempted to telephone you, but thought you wouldn't have wanted that. So far, you've dropped the ball, but have not struck out yet. You have my phone number — call me! Better yet — drop over. I can always broil another steak and make some salad and maybe we can talk.
